BEHAVIORAL & MENTAL HEALTHCARE

It is often said that mental illness is an equal-opportunity condition. Did you know that nearly one-quarter of the American population will seek some type of mental health service in the next year? Think about twelve people you know now. It's likely that three of them will seek mental health services in the coming year. Which three will it be? Your son or daughter, your mother or father, your pastor, your best friend, your sister or brother, your babysitter, your neighbor next door, your child's teacher, your mailman, the returning veteran in your neighborhood, your gym buddy, or your co-worker? Wouldn't you help if you could?

Chances are you know someone who is struggling today. Prairie View can help. Your gift will be used to counsel a person who seeks us out because they are contemplating suicide, or someone who is addicted to methamphetamines but is trying desperately to recover, or kids who have been mentally or physically abused. Be assured that your gift touches lives in a many ways that lead to renewal and healing.

Holidays often reinforce a sense of loss or trigger a sense of isolation when someone is suffering from depression. Prairie View offers the support, encouragement and care needed to work through a crisis. Your gift today will help us continue to offer the programs and services people find beneficial. The challenges they face from day to day can be overcome with your help.

Prairie View has been serving the mental health needs of Kansans for more than 50 years. Our Christian values guide us to serve with compassion and integrity. We depend on your help to continue in our mission. Your gift is measured, not by its dollar value, but by the healing and restoration others experience. Thank you for helping us help those who need it most.

Sincerely,

Jessie Kaye, President & CEO
Prairie View, Inc.

P.S. There are many obstacles to seeking quality mental health services. Help us today so that people don't suffer unnecessarily.

Your gift touches lives in many ways that lead to renewal and healing.
